

Vanessa Racci is a professional, touring vocalist, producer and voice teacher of Italian descent, specializing in Italian American contributions to music in America. Her sophomore album, Jazzy Italian, celebrates Italian Americans who made their mark on Jazz from Louis Prima to Chick Corea. It made the top 10 on the RMR jazz chart and is programmed on Siriusly Sinatra (on Sirius XM), NPR and 150+ stations globally. She also produces shows that tell the stories of Italian Americans in music such as Forbidden Love; The Love Story of Bobby Darin and Connie Francis, A Tribute to Harry Warren and many more. She performs at over 50 events and festivals per year in Italian Enclaves around the country and you can hear her music on major TV networks such as ABC, NBC, CBS, FOX, on the Spotify playlist, Italian Dinner Party, or wherever you stream. She recently started a Non-Profit entitled, "Italian Americans in Music" dedicated to preserving the history and promoting the future of Italian Americans in the music industry. She is incredibly honored to be a returning performer at NIAF NYC Gala. To learn more, follow @VanessaRacci on Facebook or Instagram or go to www.vanessaracci.com
